NARRATING THE 58TH YEAR OF ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE

Volume 12

Collegeville, Indiana, Wednesday, September 29, 1948

Number 1

New President Assumes Duties

Scholastic Year Opens Sept. 12; Numerous Changes Made in Faculty; Ten New Members

A total of 550 students registered at St. Joseph's for the 1948-'49 semester. Freshmen topped the number of entrees with 236 registrants. Also registered were: 190 sophomores, 77 juniors, and 46 seniors. One student returned to complete thesis work.

Orientation exercises were held for freshmen from Sept. 7-10. Upperclassmen made their appearance on the campus Sept. 10. The students and faculty of St. Joseph's attended a Solemn High Mass, formally opening the school year, Sunday, Sept. 12.

The Very Rev. Henry Lucks, president of the college, was celebrant of the Mass, and delivered the sermon. Using the text, "Unless the Lord build the house, they labor in vain who build it," Father Lucks said in part: "Our era is a science-maddened age. Men have delved into the secrets of the infinitesimal bit of matter to discover power and energy that is astounding. They have tasted the god-like power within the material elements of our earth; they have fashioned machines to do their will that surpasses the imagination of men of not more than two decades ago. All this would be glorious if it were achieved in the name of Faith and if the results would be used for the promotion of the good of human society. Instead, the most wonderful of the inventions are being harnessed for calamitous destruction and wholesale carnage.

"Men today do not recognize that there is a world beyond the material and that there is still a Power which can dash into nothingness the greatest of achievements. Knowledge of the spiritual and the living together in a society under the laws of God has not kept pace with the material progress."

Application Urged

Father Lucks charged the students to seek for the true knowledge that lies behind and beyond the mere material appearances of things, to apply themselves well in learning the saving truths of Faith and the principles by which their lives should be guided, now and always, in order to achieve true happiness on earth and insure eternal happiness in the kingdom of God.

Sieben Elected Pres. Of Commerce Club

The first meeting of the Commerce Club was held Friday, Sept. 17. Election of officers was held, the new incumbents being Frederick Sieben, president; Bob Ryan, vice-president; Emil Michon, secretary; and Joe Sloyan, treasurer. No definite plans for the year were made, but the club hopes to take a field trip and sponsor a lecture series. Membership is open to all students majoring in Social Sciences.

JEAN DICKENSON

Soprano Received With Acclamation By Concert-Goers

Miss Jean Dickenson, known to millions of radio listeners as the "Nightingale of the Airways," and star of the radio show, "Album of Familiar Music," captivated the admiration of a large and enthusiastic audience, Sept. 22, in the college theatre.

The vivacious and charming artist displayed marvellous voice control in presenting her program. Her singing of runs, trills and roudades for high voice was flawless in quality and marked by exceptional ease. Despite a lengthy program, Miss Dickenson was generous with encore numbers in response to the applause of the audience. Her piano accompanist, Mr. Robert MacDonald, is an artist in his own right.

The complete program follows:
Alleluiah ----- Handel
(from the Oratorio Esther)
She Never Told Her Love ----- Haydn
Heigh Ho, For a Husband ----- Traditional
Theme and Variations ----- Mozart-Adam
Tarantella ----- Rossini
Roses Softly Blooming ----- Spohr
Swiss Echo Song ----- Eckert
L'Histoire amoureuse ----- Auber
(Laughing Song)
Recitative and Aria: Ah! tardai troppo ----- Donizetti
Seguidilla ----- Dupont
Panis Angelicus ----- Franck
Tillemom ----- Stravinsky
Pastorale ----- Stravinsky
The Russian Nightingale ----- Alabielf

I Hate Music ----- Bernstein
Song ----- Copland
Indian Lullaby ----- Gruen
Some Folks ----- Foster
Encore numbers included Victor Herbert's "Kiss Me Again," Schubert's "Ave Maria," Grieg's "My Johann," and Valverdi's "Cave-litos."

Reverend Henry Lucks Resigns; Father Alfred Zanolar Succeeds

The Rev. Alfred J. Zanolar assumed his duties as president of St. Joseph's, Wednesday, Sept. 22, succeeding the Rev. Henry A. Lucks who had been head of the college for the past four years. In ill health for several months, Father Lucks asked to be relieved of the office.

The new president is a native of LaPorte, Ind., and was ordained in 1933. From 1933 to 1936 he attended Catholic University, Washington, D. C., graduating with a Master's degree. Appointed instructor in mathematics and physics, Father Zanolar came to St. Joseph's in Sept. 1936. For several years he has been a member of the president's advisory council, and since 1945 chairman of the department of the Physical Sciences.

Father Lucks has been associated with St. Joseph's since his ordination in 1927. Granted a leave of absence for graduate studies, he pursued courses leading to a doctorate in philosophy at Catholic University from 1933 to 1936. He was appointed Registrar and Dean of the College in 1937 and served in this capacity until his appointment as president of the college in June, 1944.

Father Lucks has taken up residence at St. Charles Seminary Carthagen, Ohio, where he hopes to recuperate.

FATHER ZANOLAR

Radio Acceptance Poll Enters Second Year

As a result of the enthusiasm and interest shown in the Radio Acceptance Poll last year, the National Press Commission, with headquarters here on the St. Joe campus, has decided to undertake R.A.P. functions for the second successive year.

The R. A. P. is a guide in judging the "acceptability" or "unacceptability" of certain comedy programs. The impartial judgment is made from the following: WOULD A STRANGER BE WELCOME IN YOUR HOME BY ALL THE MEMBERS OF YOUR FAMILY IF HE OR SHE SAID THE SAME THINGS AS THE RADIO PERFORMER IS SAYING? The collegians then classified the comedian or comedienne into these categories: Highly acceptable, Acceptable, Barely acceptable, Unacceptable, and Offensive.

Students Participate

Last year over 20,000 college students of all denominations took part in the greatest student project ever attempted. Millions of radio listeners and newspaper readers became aware of this movement, and more people looked to St. Joe to lead the way in the "good taste" poll.

Jim and Marian Jordan (radio's beloved Fibber McGee & Molly) were awarded Doctor of Laws Degrees by St. Joseph's, on April 15, for their outstanding contribution in the field of radio entertainment for the past 15 years.

Science Club Elects John Weis President

The Albertus Magnus Society held its first bi-weekly meeting of the year, Friday, Sept. 17, for the purpose of electing officers. Those elected were: president, John Weis; vice president, Edward Taphorn; secretary, Richard Everett; and treasurer, James Causland.

New Dietitian Here

On Friday, Sept. 3, Miss Clara Gabel, the school's dietitian for the past year, handed the responsibility of satisfying the "discriminating tastes" of St. Joseph's College to Miss Helen Skinner of Lafayette, Ind.

Miss Skinner, while continuing the excellent work of her predecessor, has presented a mode of dietetics that has won the appreciative nods of all who have tasted her menus.

Technical knowledge of her forte was acquired at Purdue University from which Miss Skinner received a B.S. in Home Economics.

CONDOLENCE

The faculty and students extend sincere sympathy to Father Henry Lucks on the recent death of his father, and to the Michael Brisch family on the death of Mr. Brisch, a generous benefactor of St. Joseph's.

Mangan, Greif, McGrath Score In Class Voting

Class elections were held for the upper classmen during the past few weeks. The presidents elected were: James Mangan of the Seniors, Charles Greif of the Juniors, and Joe McGrath of the Sophomores. A complete report of the elections is as follows:

Senior Class:

President: James Mangan.
Vice-Pres: William Kelly.
Secretary: John Smith.
Treasurer: Roger Clark.
Ath. Com.: James Dolan.
Rec. Hall: William Ciminelli.
Dining Hall: John Weis.

Junior Class:

President: Charles Greif.
Vice-Pres: Chester Kusek.
Secretary: Kenneth Weibel.
Treasurer: Thomas Carmody.
Ath. Com.: Don Roman.
Rec. Hall: Robert Beeching.
Dining Hall: Andrew Gallagher.

Sophomore Class:

President: Joe McGrath.
Vice-Pres: Paul Bauman.
Sec. and Treas: John Thorpe.
Ath. Com.: Raymond O'Donnell.
Rec. Hall: Robert Doyle.
Dining Hall: Robert Scott.

57 Attend Summer Class

The summer session of St. Joseph's was held June 26 to Aug. 6. The regular teaching staff was supplemented by Sisters M. Hermina, C.P.P.S., and St. Elizabeth, S.N.D., plus the Rev. Paul Knapke, C.P.P.S., Ph.D. For the first time, 11 sisters were admitted as students. They resided in Drexel Hall. The total enrolment was 57.

MEDITATION

The following lines were written by a student at St. Joseph's. They were penned by him on the day after his arrival to resume his studies. It seems that he has made it a custom to spend at least one hour of the first night in the chapel meditating upon the coming months and searching for a word or words which could be his guide throughout the school year. During his most recent "hora meditationis" some of the thoughts which came to his mind were so striking that he decided to pass them on to his fellows, with the hope that they too might gain from them the inspiration which he did.

"I WILL"

"I have been here in the chapel for half an hour now and have reached no conclusions. It is about time I got something done. But where shall I start? That's the hard part about it, getting started.

"Listen to that dog barking outside. He has no worries such as I have. Why hasn't he? Obviously, because he is different than I. He has four legs, I have two. He is covered with hair, most of me isn't. But the big difference is that he can't pick and choose as I can. He is guided in everything by instinct and sense-knowledge. That's where I am better than all these 'lower animals.' I have free will. It is in my power to choose what is best for me. I know I am influenced a lot by what I would like to do. For instance, that time last semester during test week when Joe came in and asked me to go to the rec hall with him. I could have said no, but I didn't. Without that study, I dropped from a B to a C. This year I must be able to say I WILL and mean it. When that ball game comes on and I have a book report to do, I must say I WILL do that report. God has given me this ability to choose the better of two alternatives, and with His help, I WILL

"PRAY"

"With His help. There is food for thought. I remember way back in grade school we had the question, 'What is the purpose of prayer?' It was fully answered in three words, 'Adoration, Petition and Thanksgiving.' Praise, ask and thank. These, then, are the methods I must use to gain the help I shall need in carrying out my resolutions. I must praise Him, for He is the Creator, the Omnipotent, the Omniscient. He has given me my body, my power of motion, my very life

"If I expect to receive help from God, I must first ask Him for it. It is a simple act to say, 'Give me this, give me that.' If it were that easy to request something of God and then receive it, people would have no wants, no worries. That is impossible, except in heaven. Therefore, I must ask in such a way as to merit reward. I must ask with all the humility of which I am capable.

"Again, I must thank Him for the benefits which I may receive. I should be more than satisfied if I am given a one-hundredth of my request. How many people are? It's hard to realize that each of us is just one of us, and the word 'us' takes in millions

"THINK"

"Yes, 'us' takes in millions. From this statement, a question arises most naturally. Is it, then, enough for me to pray? Maybe I had better ask myself a different question first: Why have I got a brain, and why a soul to give that brain the power of reason? The answer must be this: God gave it to me for the purpose of thinking. First of all, for thinking about Him. Secondly, for gaining the knowledge I need to be successful in life. Here, at St. Joseph's, I have got the best chance to use this wonderful faculty. Now is when I must say I WILL, now I must PRAY, and now I must THINK. This combination of thought, will and prayer shall be my passport to success!"

WELCOME . . .

"Greetings, Freshman! The upperclassmen and faculty heartily welcome you to St. Joseph's."

These few lines may seem a bit satirical to you, freshman, who has found the regulations of campus life cramping your notions of independence and freedom.

Poor freshman! He hasn't got a friend on the campus. At least it would seem that way. He has to get up early in the morning to make an eight o'clock class. He has to study from nine o'clock until ten-thirty p.m., be in bed at a designated time, and worst of all he must wear a silly, little green cap and serve every whimsical wish of the "high-brow" upperclassmen.

But there is one thing you must remember, freshman. What would St. Joe be without you? You play a vital part in collegiate life here on the campus. Initiation exercises were not intended solely for the purpose of sophomores', juniors', and seniors' tasks of labor eased by a freshman flunky. Initiation period is a time for freshmen to become acquainted with your upperclassmen. It can be a lot of fun, if you want it to be, that is, if you take it in the right spirit.

It is usually the custom for upperclassmen to set the example of the old "alma mater" spirit, the rah-rah on the football field, the do-or-die that goes with college life. But, freshman, you can show that you do not have to be taught this spirit. In fact, you might do a little leading of your own among your classmates.

Your class is the largest in the school. You have great potentialities within you. When those eleven Pumas trot out onto the gridiron, it will be your cheer that instills the fight and the do-or-die spirit into the body and mind of the men who have worked long and hard to give you a winning team. You owe them that much—the task of bolstering the "will to win" spirit of the Cardinal and Purple.

There is a long road ahead of you, freshman,—a road that will call for the courage and strength that the religious and moral principles for which St. Joseph's stands will give you. Seize your opportunities and hold tight! Let nothing take them from you, for they are most important for your happiness here, and later in life.

We welcome you, freshman, and we wish you great success as students at St. Joseph's.

Gag Busters . . .

Fred (Hialeah) Welsh has his Sunday afternoons completely filled now. Besides horseback-riding, he manages to sneak out to Lake Forest quite frequently. Is she the Marry-on type, Fred?

Any new students who wishes to sell or exchange anything, or trace missing articles may call at the scavenger shop, 152 Seifert, and ask for Dick O'Reilly, the proprietor.

Bob Scott has been unanimously elected president of the Handshakers Club. They say he gives and receives the warmest handshake in the group, and he'll Bev you he is right.

Is it true that Ed (Beans) Bigane has only 29 credit hours, is technically a freshman and is destined for the pool on freshman initiation night? He is being highly touted for Rookie President.

It's rumored that Smoky Malone and Tony Galvin are drunk with power now that they are sophomores. No more menial chores for them. Look out, freshmen, they're slave-drivers.

Anyone wishing a date for Homecoming can secure same by contacting Bud Greif, who still holds the title "fix-em-upper." Will Tom Quinn come back for more and will Don Dippel's foot stand the pressure of his jivin'?

Charley (Duffer) Gerst was voted "the golfer most unlikely to succeed" by the Evansville Chamber of Commerce, this past summer. It seems that Charley shot an amazing 75 the first time out for the first nine holes, that is.

Bill Ciminelli, senior representative on the recreation committee, announces the opening of a pinocle tournament. Entrance fee is 25-cents per man; sign up at 158 Seifert. Incidentally, Bill thinks he is a cinch for first place honors.

What Do You Think?

Here Are Views of a Few

The National Federation of Catholic College Students (N.F.C.C.S.) has functioned on the St. Joseph campus for several years. In an attempt to determine the general student opinion of the N.F.C.C.S., this question was put to a number of the student-body: "Does the N.F.C.C.S. mean anything to you? Does it impress you as being a practical organization?"

This consensus of student opinion shows that St. Joseph students do not know the functions of the N.F.C.C.S., but they are willing to learn. It is hoped that some of the suggestions offered in this article will aid the N.F.C.C.S. in establishing itself more firmly in the eyes of the students.

Ed Pluth, sophomore from Lincoln, Ill., seems to know very little about the N.F.C.C.S. "However, the organization seems to be limited to a select group," said Ed.

A Gary, Ind., sophomore, Walter Johnson, offered one solution to the problem of student ignorance of N.F.C.C.S. Wally considers the N.F.C.C.S. as doing a splendid work of Catholic Action. "Although," he said, "my schedule has been too full to become a member of this group, I would certainly do so, if I had the time. I would suggest that explanatory literature on the organization be distributed. It seems to me that the N.F.C.C.S. is more than a 'Gallup Poll,' and if I am right in my assumption, surely its other functions should be stressed. If an orientation program could be organized more students might realize its underlying value."

Gregory Presnail, who hails from Mansfield, Ohio, admitted that he knew little about the subject. However, he defended himself by stating, "I am not alone in this ignorance. Many of my buddies are in a haze as to its aims and organization." Presnail continued, "I feel certain that a pamphlet written for the purpose of clarifying the ideals of the N.F.C.C.S. would awaken the interest of many students."

"The title, National Federation of Catholic College Students, is a familiar title to me. But the purpose of the organization, in all its phases, is very vague," was the terse answer of Rich Daniel, sophomore from Tiffin, Ohio. He added, "Let's have some publicity!"

Nothing but praise came from the lips of James Mooney, a product of Saginaw, Mich. Said Mooney, "To me, the N.F.C.C.S. means a large step in the control of radio programs, inasmuch as a branch of it (the R.A.P.) passes judgment on all radio announcers and entertainers. I believe that in time, this organization will be rewarded. Many students in colleges all over the country are backing it." Jim ended with the enthusiastic remark, "I'm all for it."

William Sobkowiak, of Watseka, Ill., felt quite differently than Mooney on the matter. Explained Bill, "The N.F.C.C.S. does not mean very much to me. I have picked up the meaning of it in various class lectures, but one has never directly approached me to support the outfit. To me, the N.F.C.C.S. merely exists. It doesn't seem very active on the campus."

A Woodstock, Ill., student, Don Cooney, had a very similar comment. Cooney said, "The N.F.C.C.S. does not arouse my interest to any great extent. It has never been explained to me. Except for the talk by Joe McGrath in the college theatre, I had not been advised on the group before. I think that it should be thoroughly explained to the studentbody in the near future."

ANNOUNCEMENTS

If you are one of the 30,000 veterans enrolled in an Indiana college or university this fall under the G.I. Bill of Rights, the VA announces that you can expect to receive your subsistence payments for both September and October during the first week in November.

The large majority of student-veterans will be paid for September and October in one check which you should receive within a few days after October 31.

However, the VA pointed out that some veterans will be paid September and October subsistence by two checks: one to arrive early in October for September schooling and the second check to arrive early in November for October schooling.

Eligible veterans needing hospitalization or out-patient medical treatment were advised today by the Veterans Administration to apply for these medical benefits at the Regional Medical Division at 36 South Pennsylvania Street in downtown Indianapolis. Only hospital emergency cases should apply directly to a VA hospital, VA officials added.

This advice to Hoosier veterans and to service organizations was prompted by an increasing tendency of veterans of both World War I and World War II to apply at VA hospitals in Indiana for medical treatment which can be obtained only at the Regional Office of the VA.

Three VA hospitals in Indiana are currently operating on a capacity basis with veterans scheduled to enter the hospitals as soon as beds are available. A priority system first admits those who are in an emergency condition and next those service-connected disabilities. Only the first group—those veterans who are regarded as emergency cases—are admitted directly into the hospital at the request of the veteran's private doctor, his immediate family, or a service organization representing him.

ST. JOE UPSETS BALL STATE 33-0

Scharfmen Gunning for Second Victory at Louisville Saturday

BY BOB BRAITHWAITE

When St. Joseph's Pumas and the Cardinals of Louisville University bang into each other next Saturday night at Louisville, it will mark the seventh renewal of a gridiron feud that began back in 1937. The two teams couldn't manage to get together during the war years, but in 1946 Louisville bumped off the Cardinal and Purple to start things all over again. That victory gave Coach Frank Camp's men a 3-2 edge in the series, an edge which the Scharfmen will endeavor to erase this weekend.

Veterans of last fall's tussle with Louisville recall that the Pumas nearly upset the Cardinal applecart when they presented the Redbirds with a stunning 7-7 tie at our Homecoming game in Rensselaer. The deadlock was the only blot on Louisville's otherwise spotless season record and also served as some consolation to the Pumas for a rather dismal year.

Line Fast, Rugged

However, this year's edition of the Pumas is well strengthened by the return of 17 lettermen from the last season's aggregation plus a choice number of fine-looking new recruits. The line in particular is fast and rugged, and if new men could bolster the speedy backfield sorties of Cliff Beaver and Maurie Angermeier and the heads-up defensive play of John Frawley, Coach Dick Scharf might be well pleased with the outcome of Saturday's tussle.

Louisville, on the other hand, can hardly be regarded as a weak sister, as its unbeaten, once tied, 1947 record shows. No fewer than 40 of last year's Cards are returning, with 44 rookies out to swipe their positions on the Louisville traveling team. The Cardinals are fairly fast and heavy, but in spite of the number of candidates, are none too deep in reserve line strength. Freshmen and newcomers may be expected to see lots of action in the Louisville forward wall. Their backfield is already well set up, with the attack mainly centered around Tom Lucia, Joe Trabue, Frank Gitschier, and George Bertram all three-year veterans under Frank Camp.

The general attitude around Louisville this year seems to be one of optimism and of coming national football prominence, but the Pumas, with two years of seasoning and building behind them, may well be set to clip those Cardinal tail feathers come Saturday night.

Two Games Slated For Puma Reserves

A two-game slate with Valparaiso University has been scheduled for the St. Joe Reserve football squad, according to an announcement by Fred Jones, assistant coach. The initial tilt will be staged here on Wednesday, Oct. 13, and a return encounter with the Crusader Reserves is to take place on the Valparaiso athletic field, Wednesday, Oct. 20.

Surviving the final cut after several weeks of intense practice drills, the following 21 men will comprise the Puma aggregation: J. Thorpe, S. Marshall, S. Barlog, W. Ferguson, and D. Clarke, ends; R. Duffy, F. Nelis, B. King, and N. Cauley, tackles; R. Schaaf, W. Grace, and R. Cappelletti, guards; W. Trumpane and J. Righeimer, center; R. Nolan and J. Causland, quarterbacks; C. Hanley and R. Johnson, left halfbacks; C. Gorman and J. Minelli, right halfbacks, and N. Krabasch, fullback. Plans are being formulated for a freshman squad to replace the "B" team next year, Jones pointed out.

Pumas Drop 19-6 Gridiron Opener To Eastern Ill.

St. Joseph's Cardinal and Purple football squad launched its 1948 campaign by dropping a hard-fought 19-6 decision to the Panthers of Eastern Illinois College, Saturday night, Sept. 18, under the arc lights at Charleston, Ill. The outcome of the contest was fashioned with a combination of fumbles and penalties.

Capitalizing on an Eastern Illinois fumble at the half-way mark in the first quarter, the Pumas quickly opened up a ground attack, and two plays later Quarterback Tom Quinn cracked the line for the initial score of the game. The try for the extra point was no good.

Open Aerial Attack

Recovery of a St. Joe fumble in the second stanza enabled the Panthers to retaliate when Lapinski opened up an aerial attack, tossing to Cross for the score that sent the fracas into a deadlock. Later in the third quarter, the Panthers rallied with a 25-yard touchdown pass from Boudreau to Cox. Cross tossed to Ghere for the point and Eastern Illinois led 13-6.

Striking again later in the same period, the Panthers intercepted a Puma pass on the 14-yard stripe and in three quick ground plays climaxed the tilt with another tally. St. Joe's last-quarter attempts to get back into the scoring column.

Score by quarters:

FULLBACK JOHN FRAWLEY

Freshmen Find Grid Drills Backbreaking, Participant Reveals

BY UTAH CUMMINGS

Those men of distinction seen walking about the campus with what appear to be mortal cases of "Rocky Mountain Quickstep," those clannish few who with many moans and groans take several minutes to lower themselves into their chairs in the messhall are not really suffering from displaced femur bones. They are members of Coach Jones' Moaning Bones and Fractured Backs Club, formally known as the freshman football team, which is about to complete its third week of drumming up business for the infirmary.

The source of these ailments comes from a carefully prepared plan by which Mr. Jones intends to make a team capable of beating Valparaiso in a contest of skill on the gridiron.

Called "Training"

This plan is familiarly known by those in football circles as "Training." It entails a system whereby the individual inflicts upon himself numerous charley horses, black eyes, bruises and sprained fingers. At some time during the process a set of Charles Atlas muscles and a sadistic desire for raw meat settle up on the one in training, at which time he is pronounced "ready."

He then bedecks himself with a new set of shoulders, designed to throw fear into the hearts of the opponents, a pair of cleated shoes, to stomp on the other fellow's head, and a helmet. The helmet is merely a precaution in case the opponent also had the forethought to wear spiked shoes.

Enters Into Fracas

Then, with ten other similiarly outfitted monsters, he trots onto a field and enters into a fracas, at the end of which broken bones are counted and a score is decided upon. If the score is in favor of our hero he goes home a jubilant conqueror to be feted by all, and maybe even Coach Jones will take it a little easier next scrimmage.

The moral of this little story is simple: Don't laugh at your classmate with the creaking joints. Some day you may throw your best Stetson into the air and shout yourself hoarse when he carries the mortal remains of a pig between the uprights.

Frawley Scores Three Goals As Pumas Hit into Win Column

BY TOM H. FEDEWA

Get Second Score

St. Joe's Pumas upset the dope bucket Saturday night, Sept. 25, by trouncing a highly-touted Ball State gridiron squad 33-0 in a thrill-packed football spectacle under the arcs at the Rensselaer athletic field. The Pumas were not to be denied as they passed, kicked, and ran their way to their first win in 14 encounters, breaking a string of losses and ties dating back to Oct. 17, 1946.

Sparked by a combination of brilliant blocking and ball handling out of a clicking T-formation, the Cardinal and Purple, rated by pre-game dopesters as underdogs, outclassed their opponents in all phases of the contest and sent the Cardinals from Ball State back to Muncie in humble defeat. The Pumas scored in all four periods of play, while Ball State found the going extremely rough and failed to advance inside the St. Joe 10-yard line.

Teamwork Apparent

St. Joe's attack was bolstered by the accuracy of Quarterback Tom Quinn's passing coupled with the power of Fullback John Frawley's plunging and the swivel-hip running of Halfbacks Cliff Beaver and Wally Moore. Up front in the forward wall, Jerry Wenzel and Bill Kelly, tackles, Al Miesch and Captain John Lucas, guards, and Bud Greif, center, set up the scoring plays with excellent defensive protection and offensive interference. Ends Roy Stone and Ron Miniat combined to provide the receiving end of the majority of Puma passes. Coach Dick Scharf substituted freely throughout the contest and the reserves were equally skillful in defensive and offensive play.

The Puma's initial score came early in the first quarter after receiving a Ball State punt on the Cardinal 38-yard line. Quarterback Tom Quinn and Halfback Wally Moore, in successive ground plays, ran the ball to the Ball State 28-yard marker where Quinn set up the touchdown with a pass to Stone on the five. Frawley cracked the line for the score. Tom Quinn's try for the extra point went wide of the up-rights.

Intramural Program Gets Underway With Touch Football Tilts

St. Joseph's Intramural sports program got underway Wednesday, Sept. 27, with competition in touch football inaugurating the 1948-49 season. Eleven squads representing the various halls on the campus have been formed for league play.

Under the supervision of Fred Jones, assistant football coach, the Intramural program is designed to fulfill a two-fold purpose. Aside from providing students with an opportunity for wholesome recreation throughout the year, it is highly instrumental in furnishing a type of competition that encourages the development of good sportsmanship. All students are urged to participate.

During the course of the school year, basketball, volleyball, and softball leagues will be organized and play-offs held in each. Drexel and Noll halls and the Administration building will be permitted to enter two teams each, Seifert four, and Gaspar and Science one. Captains for squads in the touch football league have been appointed by Jones.

Midway in the second stanza the Cardinal and Purple added seven points to their tally with a 37-yard drive from the Ball State 37, where End Roy Stone blocked and recovered a Cardinal punt. In eleven quick plays, St. Joe blasted down to the two-yard stripe where Frawley plunged off tackle for the counter. The extra point came on a pass from Tom Quinn to his cousin, Don.

At the outset of the second half, Beaver took the Ball State kick-off on his own five and, picking up interference as he ran, scampered 67 yards to the Cardinal 38-yard line. Moore circled the end for seven yards and Beaver carried down to the 24 in two quick plays off tackle. Tom Quinn climaxed the drive with a pass to Roy Stone in the end zone. Quinn's kick was good and the Pumas comfortably held the long end of a 20-0 score.

Frawley Rides Again

Beaver took over again early in the third canto, running the ball from the Ball State 22, down to the nine after St. Joe took possession on downs. Frawley once more jumped back in the saddle and cracked over for six additional points. Quinn's point try was no good.

Joe Brosnahan, reserve tackle, set the stage for the final Puma score by recovering a Ball State fumble on the Cardinal 11-yard line in the closing minutes of the fourth quarter. Norb Hummel and Beaver pushed down to the eight and a five-yard off-sides penalty against Ball State set the ball on three. Beaver then added the climaxing thrill to the football spectacle by smashing through center for the tally. Quinn's kick was good and the game ended seconds later, St. Joe 33, Ball State 0.

Chicago Bears Play Exhibition Contest For Stadium Fund

The Chicago Bears football team, according to their custom of five years standing, trained at St. Joe this past summer from August 4 until Sept. 24, using the local gridiron to work out pre-season kinks in preparation for their grueling National League schedule.

The Bears displayed one of the greatest exhibitions of pro-football ever seen by many people in this vicinity, Aug. 15. In an intra-squad game, Papa Halas' squad was split into two teams, the Orange and the Blues, with the winning outfit being offered a free weekend. With this incentive, the Orange squad went on to wrest a 23-24 verdict from the Blues.

Luckman Shines

Sid Luckman showed his flingin' arm to advantage during the tilt, throwing two touchdown passes and completing 16 of 32 pass attempts for a total of 261 yards.

Although the Bears' famous rookies, Lujack and Connor of Notre Dame, and Bobby Layne and Baumgardner of Texas were on leave to work with the All-Stars, more promising talent was shown that day. Jim Canady, recently of the University of Texas, filled in the right halfback spot to great advantage.

The proceeds of the game, which amounted to $1,250, will go towards the new college-community stadium to be constructed soon.

Friday, Sept. 24, the Bears left St. Joe for a day of practice in Chicago, before traveling to Green Bay for their league opener with the Packers.

Multi-Billion Dollar Conclave Sponsored by St. Joseph's

More than 2,200 pastors, religious superiors and college officials from 33 states, two Canadian provinces, and four foreign countries gathered in Chicago, June 30, July 1-3, at the Stevens Hotel for the first National Catholic Building Convention and Exposition. Architects, contractors and manufacturers of building materials, furnishings and equipment joined administrators to discuss details of the Catholic Church's gigantic building program which will average about one billion dollars a year for the next ten years, according to the Business and Industry Foundation of St. Joseph's, sponsor of the convention and exposition.

His Eminence, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, of Chicago, gave the keynote address in which he commended St. Joseph's for its service to the Church, and suggested that the convention and exposition be held again next year. The Cardinal said that the need for churches, schools and institutions was greater than ever before, and urged that buildings be kept simple, yet combine majesty and dignity. Authorities in building and allied industries addressed the convention's five general sessions which covered planning, architecture, construction and materials, equipment, and general outlook. Five major panel sessions covered remodeling, the church, the school, the institution and the recreation center.

Nine members of the American hierarchy attended the convention: Cardinal Stritch; Archbishop Kiley of Milwaukee; Bishop Muccio of Steubenville, Ohio; Bishop Bennett of Lafayette, Ind.; Bishop Marling of Kansas City; Bishop Griffin of Springfield, Ill.; Bishop O'Brien of Chicago; Bishop Ryan of Bismarck, N.D.; and Bishop Guerrero of the Philippine Islands. Delegates from Brazil, India and Cuba were also registered.

Alumni Stage Annual Reunion

On August 15, 124 alumni of St. Joseph's College met on the campus for their annual reunion. The two-day program brought together men of all classes, including two golden jubilarians who graduated in the class of 1898.

The program began Sunday morning, August 15, with a Solemn High Mass for the living alumni. After Mass, and lunch in the college refectory, the Chicago Bears put on an exhibition football game on the Rensselaer Athletic Field for the benefit of the college-community fund.

Officers Elected

The game was followed by the annual Alumni dinner, after which the group held its business meeting and elected officers. The Rev. James M. Conroy, associate editor of Our Sunday Visitor, was elected president, Thomas Medland, first vice-president, and Clarence Sieben, second vice-president. The new nominating committeemen are Richard Scharf and the Rev. Henry Martin, both of St. Joseph's faculty.

On Monday, August 16, a Requiem Mass for the deceased alumni was said in the chapel. The reunion terminated with the annual golf tournament at Curtis Creek Golf Course.

The Rev. Henry Schaeffer, pastor of St. Henry's church, Cincinnati, won the tournament by shooting a 70. Tied for second place were Fathers Kenkel and Heckman, and Bernard Lear, each with 71.

Press Commission Workshop to Meet On St. Joe Campus

For the first time in the history of the N.F.C.C.S. a Press Commission Workshop will be held on St. Joe campus, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 16-17, it has been announced by John W. Lynch, Chairman of the National Press Commission.

The purpose of the Workshop, explained Lynch, is to acquaint the Catholic College Students with the field of newspaper publication and how this medium affects our daily lives.

Open Forums

Arrangements have been made to have panel sessions presided over by members of the College of Journalism, Marquette University. Mr. J. L. O'Sullivan, dean of the College of Journalism, and founder and director of the Catholic School Press Association will head the Marquette delegation. Open forums will follow each session, and students may present their problems to these journalistic experts.

Mr. Gerald Cosgrove, associate editor of the South Bend Tribune will deliver the opening address.

College students from all over the country are expected to attend this initial Workshop. Plans will be made, if this Workshop is successful, to have a Radio Workshop later in the year.

Tonner and Connor Direct Music Dep't

The St. Joseph's College Band, under the able tutelage of Professor Tonner and Mr. Connor, has increased its number to 45 members for the 1948-'49 school year. Mr. Connor has charge of the Marching Band and the Glee Club. Mr. Tonner will head the Concert Band.

The band has obtained some very fine new talent this year. Alan Kalvin and Thomas O'Rourke, both trombone players, received awards for state band work. O'Rourke also won a scholarship to the St. Louis School of Music.

All home games of the Pumas, both football and basketball, will feature the college band. Mr. Connor hopes to entertain the football fans with timely formations and spirited music.

The Glee Club has 20 members returning from last year, along with some 15 new members. Anyone who has had experience in the music field is urged to contact Mr. Tonner or Mr. Connor.

Bishop Leads Local Meeting Of Musicians

The National Catholic Music Educators' Association held its diocesan convention on St. Joseph's campus, August 23-25. Bishop John G. Bennett, of the diocese of Lafayette in Indiana, led the Association throughout the three-day convention.

Bishop Bennett sang a Pontifical High Mass in the College Chapel on the closing day of the convention. The proper of the Mass was sung by the College choir, and the ordinary by the delegates to the convention, under the direction of the Rev. John de Deo Oldegeering, O.F.M., musical director of Catholic Teachers' College, Cincinnati, Ohio.

One of the main addresses was given by Father John de Deo on "Music of High Mass." The Rev. E. J. Goebel, Ph.D., superintendent of schools in the archdiocese of Milwaukee, spoke on "Music in the Curriculum," and Sister Marcina, O.S.F., gave the concluding address, "Teaching Children to Read Music."

The convention adjourned after the adoption of ten liturgical resolutions.

W. J. Ryan Enters Naval Academy
